Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133).
- Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 19 September 2003.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 3-7, 10-14, and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gillery (US 4,948,677). Please refer to the previous office action mailed May 21, 2003, Paper No. 16.

Claims 1-3, 5, 10-14, and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by King (US 3,720,541). Please refer to the previous office action mailed May 21, 2003, Paper No. 16.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2, 8, 9, and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gillery (US 4,948,677). Please refer to the previous office action mailed May 21, 2003, Paper No. 16.

Claims 6-9, and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over King (US 3,720,541). Please refer to the previous office action mailed May 21, 2003, Paper No. 16.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments have overcome the reference of Demiryont.

Regarding Gillery and King, applicant's arguments filed September 19, 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant states that Gillery fails to teach a thermostable solar coating, and that the process of Gillery does not use high temperatures. Applicant also argues that the coating of Gillery does not consist essentially of sputter deposited copper oxide because it is composed of many layers other than copper. Applicant states that the coating of Gillery may be formed on plastics.

Applicant's claim is to a thermostable glazing comprising a thermostable solar coating, wherein the solar coating consists essentially of sputter deposited copper oxide. It appears from the claim that the "solar coating" consists essentially of the copper oxide layer, while the coating itself may include other layers in addition to the copper oxide layer. The copper oxide layer of Gillery is considered a solar coating, and the additional layers are not considered part of the solar coating, but part of the coating in general. The sputter copper oxide layer of Gillery has not been shown to be structurally or characteristically different from that of the instant claims. While Gillery does not expressly teach that the copper oxide layer is subjected to higher temperatures, it has not been shown that the copper layer or overall coating would not be thermostable. The "process" applicant refers to is considered to be the process of depositing the layers on the substrate. This process is commensurate with that of applicant's disclosure. It is also noted that applicant's substrate may be plastic (page 9). The declaration offered by applicant has been carefully considered but is not persuasive. The declaration offers no evidence or explanation as to why the coating of Gillery may not be thermostable. From MPEP 706.01(c):

Objective evidence which must be factually supported by an appropriate affidavit or declaration to be of probative value includes evidence of unexpected results, commercial success, solution of a long-felt need, inoperability of the prior art, invention before the date of the reference, and allegations that the author(s) of the prior art derived the disclosed subject matter from the applicant. See, for example, In re De Blauwe, 736 F.2d 699, 705, 222 USPQ 191, 196 (Fed. Cir. 1984) ("It is well settled that unexpected results must be established by factual evidence." "[A]ppellants have not presented any experimental data showing that prior heat-shrinkable articles split. Due to the absence of tests comparing appellant's heat shrinkable articles with those of the closest prior art, we conclude that appellant's assertions of unexpected results constitute mere argument."). See also In re Lindner, 457 F.2d 506, 508, 173 USPQ 356, 358 (CCPA 1972); Ex parte George, 21 USPQ2d 1058 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1991).

Regarding applicant's arguments over King, while King may not teach heating the article to a higher temperature, applicant has offered no explanation or evidence that the article of King, which is structurally similar to that of the applicant as well as formed with the same method claimed by applicant, would not be thermostable. Is the fact that applicant's coating is thermostable an unexpected result?

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
